

Nature-based Education TEACHER WORKSHOPS Spring 2022

Description of Series:

This workshop series will be in-person with a limit of 15 participants. We ask that participants be vaccinated and wear masks.

The workshops are geared towards K-6th grade teachers and will have something for everyone!

Hands-on outdoor activities, games, songs, art, and other science and literacy connections will be integrated into the learning experience. A stewardship ethic will be practiced and cultivation of relationship to land around us woven into each workshop.

Professional Development Hours will be offered for participants!

Registration for workshops will open one month in advance. If you have questions email Landere:

landere@bluehillheritagetrust.org

Monthly WORKSHOPS

Jan 26th 3:30-4:30: Fire Building in your Outdoor Classroom

February 23rd, 3:30: Winter Twig and Track ID PLUS Outdoor Seasonal Crafts

March 16th, 3:30: Maple Tapping Demo with Literacy Connections

April 23rd, 9:00 -11:30: Special Guest: Tom Wessels on Reading the Forested Landscape

May: Getting to Know Your School Yard Plants: ID, Wild Edibles, Games, and More!

June: Teaching Place-based Education Through Storytelling

